

Document layout

Every page shares the margins, the running header, and the footer set by business-document.

First page

Content flows from page to page. Use page-break when a section should start on a new page.

Second page

From the second page on, the header repeats the document title and number.